

Journalist crews should not be hindered in doing their job

Skopje, 07.12.2016. – On 5 and 6 December 2016, the Nova TV informed the Agency for Audio and Audiovisual Media Services that it had been facing problems in its reporting from the rallies of certain political parties.

Following this, latest, case involving Nova TV, the Agency wishes to repeat its stance, presented many times so far, that no one should hinder journalists or journalist crews in performing their professional duties and thus restrict the public's right to receive information about the current social and political events.
