

Press Release

Skopje, 02.05.2018 – The Agency for Audio and Audiovisual Media Services has ascertained the fact that, on 26 April 2018, most of the national television stations did not report on the protest against the name change, titled “Republic of Macedonia Erga Omnes” .

Media create their editorial policies autonomously and independently; however, bearing in mind their specific role, they are at the same time obligated to inform the public on issues of relevance for society. This is the way to promote a broader debate as one of the basic foundations of democratic societies.
